

The Atlanta Braves Supports Georgia Head Start

Several Braves players have so generously contributed to the 2013 "Reach Out, Be Our Guest Program". Each season, Braves players provide complimentary tickets to children and individuals who would otherwise not have the means to attend a professional baseball game through the Atlanta Braves Reach Out, Be Our Guest Program. Last year, Braves players including Chipper Jones, Tim Hudson, Craig Kimbrel, Martin Prado and manager Fredi Gonzalez provided tickets to thousands of children who were able to experience a Major League Baseball game for the first time.

From the Atlanta Braves:

Dear Community Partner

Please see below for what your group has been approved for. If you would like more please go to braves.com/reachout and request new dates. Please try to avoid Friday and Saturday games.

150 tickets for each game below:

Sunday, April 7, 2013

Sunday, May 19, 2013

Monday, August 12, 2013

Your tickets will be mailed to the address you submitted.

Thank you again for your participation in the "Reach Out, Be Our Guest Program." We look forward to your visit with the Atlanta Braves!

Because of the generosity of these fine Atlanta Braves Baseball players, Head Start children in Georgia will get a chance to see a real live professional major league baseball game in their home state of Georgia! "I remember my first Braves game- even in my thirties- it was electrifying". - Juanita Yancey, Executive Officer
